THE LATEST AND GREATES CABLE-ROAD PROJECT

What Mesers. Crank and Silver Offe to Do, and How They Propose to Do It—Route of the Line—The Petition to Be Heard Today.

A petition was presented to the City Council at their last meeting by J. F. Crank and Herman Silver, asking for a franchise for a double-track street cable railroad over the following route: Commencing at the intersection of Seventh and Alvarado streets, and running thence easterly along Seventh street to Fort street; thence along Fort atreet to First street; thence along Fort atreet to First street; thence easterly along First street to the proposed union depot of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad Company, near the western extremity of the First-street bridge.

The petition was referred to the Board of Public Works, and Meesrs. Jones and Hyans were added to the committee, thus giving the committee a representative from each ward in the city.

Since presenting the petition Messrs. Crank and Silver have concluded to amend by continuing the road along First street to Aliso avenue: thence along Aliso avenue to Chicago street.

In consideration of the granting of this franchise they offer to donate to the city THE SUM OF $10,000 that they will construct, equip and operate the said road WITHIN TWO YEARS FROM THE TIME OF GRANTING.

the franchise, or forfeit the right of way over the entire route. They further agree to transfer passengers to and from any of the connecting roads now owned and being operated by either the Central or City Railroad Company for one fare.

In order to carry out the provisions stated in their petition, Mr. Crank has purchased the Workman franchise, on First street, and will abandon the same upon the city granting them the cable franchise. He has also secured

also secured
CONTROL OF THE CITY AND CENTRAL
Railroad companies, and will petition the Council, at an early date, for a double-track cable road from Rast to West Los Angeles, and permission to double-track such portions of the present roads as are impracticable to be converted into the cable and future cable road propositions for Los Amgeles.

The distance from the corner of Seventh and Alvarado streets to Aliso avenue and Chicago street is about 23,000 feet, or 4½ miles, which, double, makes the longest cable road in the United States—about 46,000 feet of cable; and according to a report recently made by the engineer of the Eighthavenue Street Railroad Company of New York, will cost 450ut $125,000 per mile, or nearly $000,000.

In order to svoid detentions they propose to construct over such parts of the route as intersect steam railroad tracks. They will also change the gauge of the present tracks to 3% feet, thus making a uniform width. The substitution of the cable systom for animal power has proved a great success, not only for the owners of the road, but for the property holders along the route. Statistics show that property along the line of cable roads in San Francisco has increased in value in many instances more than 1000 per cent, and it is only necessary to call attention to our own cable roads on Temple and Second streets to illustrate the amount of otherwise unavailable property which can be settled to be considered in connection with the cable system is the paving of the public streets. In order to construct a cable road streets. In order to construct a cable road equal in every respect to the Market-street system in San Francisco—which the builders propose to do—the roadbed must be made of concrete and be perfectly smooth and durable. This will necessitate paving one-third of the street along the entire route, which will serve as an impetus to ormerty-holders to somplete the other twoproperty-holders to complete the other two-thirds, thus giving a well-paved route across the entire city. For this work from England. On the granting of the fra On the granting of the franchise work will be commenced at once and prosecuted diligently to a final completion, which they anticipate will be in one year. The promoters of the cable-road system are Hon. J. F. Crank and Herman Silver. Mr. Crank is known as one of our most enterprising citizens. He was the originator and builder of the Los Angeles and San Gabriel Valley Rallmad, and remained the sole owner of that road up to within a few months, when it was sold to the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Rallmad Company. He is now the resident director of that company. His associate in this great enterprise, Mr. Herman Silver, now secretary and treasurer of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Rallmad Company, was for many years president and manager of large street railroad enterprises in Denver and other places.

MILLER ALIAS SCOPIELD.

A Dry Goods Clerk of Supposably Crooked Ways.

About a month ago a youth registered at the St. Elmo as W. P. Scofield, city. He remained at the hotel over night, and secured a room in East Los Angeles. In a few days he secured a situation in Sheward's store. He seemed to be a good worker and an honest boy. He was never seen on the streets after night, but always went straight to his room. He visited the post-office several times and asked for letters addressed to W. C. Scofield. He had not been at work long when Officer Fred Smith was approached by a gentleman, who offered to dressed to W. C. Scofield. He had not been at work long when Officer Fred Smith was approached by a gentleman, who offered to give him $100 for the capture of a youngster named W. P. Miller, who had been a bank clerk in Ft. Scott. Kan. The detective was given a full description of young Miller, and for five days he stood at the postoffice and closely scanned the face of every visitor. Finally he was rewarded, for young Miller, alias Scofield, walked up to the window and asked for a letter addressed to W. C. Scofield. Smith placed the youngster under arrest and conducted him to his room, as Smith was anxious to secure any letters that might be in the boy's possession. When they got there Miller said:

"I know what you are after, but you won't find anything here, for I have burned all of my letters that might give you a clue. I have been expecting this, and Fm prepared for you." He was right, and Smith had to return to the police office with the young man.

prepared for you." He was right, and Smith had to return to the police office with the young man.

The gentleman who had placed the matter in Smith's hands was looked up as soon as Miller was secured. The gentleman was perfectly happy over the arrest, and showed Smith a dispatch from the president of the bank in Ft. Scott, which stated that the boy must be captured at all hazards. The gentleman telegraphed to Ft. Scott that night, and the next morning an answer came from the president saying to hold the boy until he arrived. He started at once and arrived here a day or two ago. The bank president refused to inform the officers what the boy (who, by the way, is not over 16 pears of age) was wanted for; but Smith, who found a letter in the boy's pocket from one of his chums, stating that "the man has been put out of the way," thinks the boy is wanted for robbery and murder. The banker left yesterday morning with his charge, and will inform Smith what the boy is wanted for as soon as they arrive at Ft. Scott.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

Too Many John Hansons Cause
Trouble in the Family.

As will be remembered by readers of THE TIMES, one John Hanson was arrested some few days ago for attempting to obtain money under false pretenses. The case came up for trial in Justice Austin's court yesterday, and proved to be a queer one. Attorney Loewenthal, for the defendant, stated to the court that he was convinced that it was a case of mistaken identity, and that the evicase of mistaken identity, and that the evidence of the prosecution would so develop the fact as to call for a dismissa; that the defendant here came from Santa Barbara, where he had been working, and where he had left a collection of $27.94 to be made by Wells, Fargo & Co., and forwarded to him here; that he went to Endel's Hotel and registered as George Gatz, and, while there, received a notice to John Hanson (which was defendant's true name), telling him that there was $25 at the office for him; that he thought this was his Santa Barbara money order, and tried to borrow money on it; that, on going to Wells, Fargo & Co. for the $25 he found another John Hanson had received it, and his note was returned from Santa Barbara uncollected.

J. Endel, the hotel-keeper, testified to the defendant coming to his house and registering as George Gatz—trying to borrow money on the notice from Well's Fargo & Co. and

J. Endel, the hotel-keeper, testified to the defendant coming to his house and registering as George Gatz—trying to borrow money on the notice from Wells, Fargo & Co., and his having him arrested. Officer Woodward testified to making the arrest. Mr. Gait, Wells, Fargo's agent, said the defendant came to him as John Hanson, March ist, and said he had money coming to him from Santa Barbara; that he wrote up for it, but received reply that it was uncollected, and the note belonging to Hanson.

Peter Ring said he knew this man as John Hanson, from Santa Barbara, two months ago. Also knew another John Hanson, who had received the $25 from Wells, Fargo & Co. Upon this evidence the justice dismissed the complaint.

A LITTLE FINICKY.

How a Feminine Maniac Was Captured Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock Judge Morgan, the attorney, visited a client at the Pico House named Mrs. Lucy Gibson, who resides in Santa Monica. When Gibson, who resides in Santa Monica. When the stalk. This can by done by early attention. the Judge went to her room and knocked at "Who's that?" asked Mrs. Gibson. "Judge Morgan," replied the lawyer, in is sweetest tones.

"Well, you go across the street, so I can see you, and I will tell you whether you can come in or not. Men are after me all the time, and I wish to see your face at a dis-tance."

time, and I wish to see your face at a distance."
"You can't see me from your window, but, if you insist on seeing my face before you let me in, I will go down the hall, and you can open your door and take a look."
"Not muck. You go and get a chair and look in through the transom," and the legal adviser was compelled to do as she wished. After he had held his head in the transom for about five minutes the lady consented to open the door. The Judge stepped inside and in less than three seconds the inmates of the hotel thought fourteen women and two dozen babies were being killed in that room.

It seems that Mrs. Gibson has been a client of Judge Morgan's for some time, and the Judge, in company with several officers, went to the hotel to capture the lady. She fought all the way down stairs, and officer Bosqui had to pick her up in his arms and place her in a carriage. She was examined for insanity by Drs. Nadeau, Kirkpatrick and Cohen, and adjudged insane. She will be sent to Stockton today. She is a monomaniae on the subject of men.

THE DUMMY LINE.

Engine and Cars Ready and the Track in Sight.

The locomotive for the new dummy road, known as the McLaughlin line, projected from the terminus of the Second-street cable to the Baptist College and thence to Santa Monica, was yesterday unloaded from the car in which it had crossed the continent, and was hauled to the terminus of the Second-street line. The little engine is said to be "as pretty as a spotted dog." It was made by H. K. Porter & Co., of Pittsburg, Pa., and has a registered capacity for hauling 250 tons. Two cars have already been built for the new line under the supervision of E. H. Hutchinson, assistant superintendent and master mechanic. Rails and ties are being distributed along the line, and it is promised that the road shall soon be in operation.

The Los Angeles County Pemological So-ciety convened in the town hall at Mon-rovia, Thursday morning, for its fourth anrovis, Thursday morning, for its fourth an-nual session. Only about twenty-five regu-lar members of the society were present, but the hall was comfortably filled, consider-able delegations of ladies and gentlemen from Monrovia and Duarie being present. President Hiram Hamilton, of Orange, presided, and Secretary Alles was at his desk.

An address of welcome was delivered by Gen. W. A. Pile, who spoke eloquently in behalf of the people of Monrovia and Duarte. The General welcomed the society Duarte. The General welcomed the society as the organized representative of a most important industry. He cited the fact that the people of the United States pay the West India Islands $50,000,000 annually, in gold, for sugar, oranges, lemons and uananas. The speaker illustrated the importance and magnitude of fruit-growing by many pertinent facts. He considered this industry most beneficent, because it tends to cheapen and vary the food supply for man, and has an asthetic effect on those engaged in it. The people of Monrovia welcome the society, also, because they were glad to have a body of men visit them for some other purpose than to talk corner lots, buy real estate, and then put the price up a hundred per cent. the next day.

President Hamilton responded to this address in a few appropriate words. The minutes of the last meeting were then read by the secretary.

The essay on "Transporting and Marketing Table Grapes," promised by Charles F. Pierce, president of the Interocean Cold Storage Company, was not forthcoming, much to the regret of the meeting.

J. O. Matthewson, of Duarte, read the following practical and thoughtful essay on APRICOT CULTURE.

Ladies and Gentlemen: I am to talk for a very few minutes on growing the apricot. I would say first of all that I am not a very observant man, but that during an experience of twenty years in nursery and orchard I have learned some things worth knowing in that line that may be of use to beginners. To secure the best success in any direction, we must begin right. To begin right in the vegetable kingdom we must be specially careful in selecting the seeds we piant. I think as horticulturists we very seriously fail here. To plant poor, immature, unhealthy and diseased seed and then expect the best results is only to insure disappointment. We see this fact markedly illustrates in the history of citrus culture in the past and I think nearly equally so in deciduous trees. Now, in growing the apricot, we want first of all good, healthy, well-developed peach or apricot pits from healthy stock not affected with the gum or black-knot or black wood diseases. If pits are planted from such trees they will invariably develop the same disease in the near future and make an ugly gap in your orchard. Nurserymen are not careful enough in their selections in this respect—indeed, where a large nursery is carried on, it is a very difficult matter to do so, and yet it is necessary to insure healthy stock. I regard the peach as the best stock for the apricot in certain places and for certain reasons. The trees bear earlier, they require less pruning, and enjoy freedom from gophers. They ought, however, to be planted where artificial irrigation is practised, and not where the soil is naturally wet or damp.

For long life, none so good as the apricot root. It is a more vigorous feeder, does not bear so early, requires more labor to keep the tree in proper shape, is subject to the depradations of gophers, and also more liable to gum disease. So I take it, as we are a people rather impatient of results, I would advise the use of the peach stock for our apricot orchant a.

This stock, at the age of eight or nine months, will be budded, clo Ladies and Gentlemen : I am to talk for strength of the root forces into one main stalk. This can by done by early attention. I prefer 1-year-old trees for planting in the orchard. Before the trees are taken from the nursery rows a sharp pruning-knife ought to be used to trim this yearling tree up to a switch, not leaving a single branch on the main stem, and cutting off the top also at the height of four feet from the ground. Then take up the tree carefully, place it in orchard at about the same depth as it stood in the nursery rows; if any deeper, not more than two inches—carefully spreading out the upper and lower roots horizontally, the tips slightly dipping. In taking all this care, we are to remember we are sure of ample reward in the future. It always pays to do things right.

In growing the future tree in the orchard don't be too hasty in rubbing off the superfluous sprouts. Let the tree get fairly started to grow. Foliage is absolutely necessary to root growth.

In growing the future tree in the orchard don't be too hasty in rubbing off the superfluous sprouts. Let the tree get fairly started to grow. Foliage is absolutely necessary to root growth.

Then when the young sprouts are four to five inches long go over all the trees. Cut or rub them off to within two inches of the top. In two months after take a sharp pruning-knife and cut off every sprout except three or four main branches at the top, and let them also be selected, so that they will be two or three inches apart—to save future splitting.

In the winter cut away two-thirds of these three or four branches—we are to remember we are training this tree for long years of usefulness in fruit-bearing, and we must begin right, as we desire a tree that will give us the least possible trouble in the future.

In this way a tree will bear its own load of fruit without propping up, and will also economize its root forces for future fruit-bearing. Treat your trees in this way for the first three years and, other things implied, your orchard ought and will be a credit to you.

After the tree has been in position for three years in good soil, an average of ten or twelve inches of winter rains, with good cutivation, is all that is needed for the future well-being of the tree.

In my orchard I have always kept my trees dry in the fall so far as I was able. I wanted the leaves to drop early, so that the trees might have a long time to rest, and be ready to start out at the first approach of spring. I have given but little cultivarion in the spring after the fruit is formed, rather keeping the weeds under with the hoe. My object in this is to dry out the soil early and keeping the woods under with the hoe My object in this is to dry out the soil early and keeping the woods under with the hoe and the tree on the first powth, and tend to early ripening of the fruit. I have adopted the methods of pruning that have given me the largest returns—t. e., cutting back to within six to twelve inches immediately after the crop is off. I also prune the Reyal apricot in winter, as they have a tendency with me to over-bear. If they require water at all, immediately after the summer pruning at the end of July is the proper time. The varieties I have grown are the Royal, Early Golden and Large Early. The Large Early is a very shy bearer, and is not worth cultivating in our section. The Hoyal is better than the Golden. It will hang three days on the trees after it is ripe without dropping; the Early Golden will hardly do that, though it bears well.

My returns have not been large, but satisfactory, and all the more so because I've never had a total failure. A heavy year and a light one is the rule, but never a failure. From 416 trees, ranging in age from five to eight years old, I have averaged for the four years past about $800 net each year, and I am sure they have paid me better than any other trees on my place, considering the labor bestowed, except, perhaps, the lemon.

So far as diseases are concerned, I am Inclined to think that the gum is often started by imprudent watering, starting an undue flow of sap that cannot find quick enough utilization in top surfaces, must find an escape some way and comes out as a gum, especially in the crotches, where it is specially dangerous in heavy-bearing trees. To obviate this, I think less cultivation until the crop is off would have a tendency to help in this direction. I think it is true that apricots standing in comparatively damp ground are more liable to this disease than when planted in dry soil and needing artificial irrigation. I have been troubled very little with it. I cannot say as much in reference to black-knot. I think the only way out of this difficulty I can see is to be careful of our beginnings and never to deluge the trees with water.

And now I want to say that for our section here the apricot is peculiarly at home. By prop

It was decided that the next meeting of the society shall be held at Orange, convening July 1st.

The society appropriated $25 for the secretary, Fred L. Alles, in token of appreciation of his faithful services.

The Misses Miller and Monroe favored the assemblage with an instrumental duet, which was well appreciated.

M. Baldridge, of Azusa, read an able paper on citrus conditions, and in concluding it he was requested by vote to read another paper, previously prepared, on the same subject, which he did. Mrs. P. H. Hull sang MiHard's waiting song in a most exquisite manner, and was encored. On her reappearance she sang "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," adapted to the music of "The Last Rose of Summer." Mrs. Hull possesses a remarkably sweet and clear soprano voice, and one of good cultivation. She is an acquisition to the musical talent of the county, and should be called out on future occasions.

Gen. Pile then delivered a very eloquent and forcible address on flowers. Disclaiming any right to speak as an expert on the subject, he nevertheless showed himself a lover of flowers and of nature, and demonstrated the best right in the world to speak, since he went to the very heart of the matter. His address abounded in beautiful thoughts, strongly expressed, and it would only be garbled by an attempted synopsis. In conclusion he read the following beautiful poem:

HYMN TO THE PLOWERS. Day stars that ope your frownless eyes to twinkle From rainbow galaxies of earth's creation, And dewdrops on her lonely altars sprinkle As a libation.

After a vocal duet by the Misses Bowerman, Mr. Rust, of Pasadena, opened a discussion on the subject of "Nomenclature."
He devoted his attention entirely to urging a change of the name of the Washington Navel orange. He thought the appellation anything but elegant, and unfit to apply to so fine an orange. He suggested "California Seedless" as an appropriate designation and hoped the society would recommend a change to that.

Mr. Rust was supported in his argument by Gen. Pile.

Mr. Spalding, Mr. Alles and Mr. Kercheval took issue with these gentlemen, holding that any objection to the use of the term "navel" arose from prudishness rather than real modesty. The sense of the meeting seemed to be in favor of the latter position, and a vote being taken it was decided that the designation "Washington Navel" ought to be retained.

Mr. Alles then brought up the subject of Government experiment stations suthorized by Congress, and on his motion a committee, consisting of President stations suthorized by Congress, and on his motion a committee, consisting of President Hamilton, Gen. Pile and Mr. Rust, was appointed to correspond with the proper parties and endeavor to secure the location of one of the Pacific coast stations at Los Angeles.

The treasurer presented a report, showing the society to be out of debt and with a snuglittle fund in the treasury.

The following report of the Committee on Exhibits was presented:

To the Los Angeles County Pomological Society: Your special committee, appointed to inspect the fruits and flowers placed on exhibit in the hall of meeting by the people of Monrovia, Duarte and Azusa, would respect the fruits and flowers placed on exhibit in the hall of meeting by the people of Monrovia, Duarte and Azusa, would respect the Fruits and flowers placed on exhibit in the hall of meeting by the people of Monrovia, Duarte and Azusa, would respect the Fruits and flowers placed at Monrovia. The report was adopted and ordered spread on the minutes.
An adjournment was taken about 10 o'clock. All present voted the meeting highly interesting. In closing the session President Hamilton urged a full attendance at the next session, and pledged a cordial recention.

Members of the society at the Monrovia meeting were entertained free of expense at the Grand View Hotel, as the guests of Mr. Monroe and other public-spirited citizens, and a formal resolution of thanks was tendered by the society.

BOARD OF REALTH.

The Smallpox Reported Thoroughly Checked—Quarantine Bills In. Rather a stormy meeting of the Board of Health was held at 2 o'clock, yesterday af-ternoon, in the Council chamber. A full board was present and they were in session until 5 o'clock. After the Mayor had called the board to order Dr. Hagan, the Health Officer, stated that he was ready to make his report regarding the condition of the smallpox. He stated that but two new caset had been found during the week. He be lieves that the disease has run its course lieves that the disease has run its course, and is quite positive that there will be no more new cases. He and his deputies are acquainted with the centers and know where to guard against it. He reported that he and his assistants are through vaccinating, as they have become convinced that the city has been thoroughly vaccinated. For that reason he is positive that Los Angeles cannot have an epidemic. The doctor stated that he has more trouble to get rid of hospital patients than is generally supposed. Only the other day he turned a man loose, and the man could not secure lodgings in the town, and the same trouble has occurred in every case. He has been compelled to take patients to his own house after they were cured. For this reason he has to keep people in the hospital longer than he would if they could find lodgings outside.

Mayor Workman stated that he and his than he would if they could find lodgings outside.

Mayor Workman stated that he and his assistants, who were appointed a committee to enforce the cleansing up of the city, are doing good work. They found Chinatown to be in a fearful condition, but he hopes to have it thoroughly cleaned up in a short time. His actions in this all-important matter were approved by the board.

George Pike reported that his garbage wagon has become useless, and the board ordered it repaired.

Dr. Hagan presented bills for his assistants, amounting to $1392.92, which were read and approved.

Dr. Hagan presented bills for his assistants, amounting to $1392,92, which were read and approved.

A letter from Dr. Kurtz, explaining why his bill was so large, was read. He stated that he had worked with his assistant night and day vaccinating school children and attending smallpox patients, and for his services he demanded $to$ a day during the time. His bill was sallowed.

A number of bills from persons who had been compelled to destroy their bed-clothes and wearing apparel on account of smallpox were read. The board, after quite a lengthy discussion, came to the conclusion that the city, could not be held responsible for such things any more than it could in ease of loss by fire. They decided to reject all bills except those for bedding, etc., which had been taken from infected houses to the hospital and there used by the city, and for these articles they decided to pay 50 cents on the dollar. according to the bills rendered.

F. M. Johnson asked that the fire hydrant on Downey avenue, near Griffin avenue, in East Los Angeles, be moved further east, so that the avenue may be properly watered. The matter was referred to the Mayor.

A number of citizens who live in the neighborhood of Seventh street garbagedump grounds petitioned the board to remove the dump further down the river. The board had already made arrangements to

BIG BLOCKS.

"There will be twice as many brick laid in this city in 1887 as were laid in 1886," said Octavius Morgan, of Kysor & Morgan, architects, to a Traces representative yesterday, "and there were more laid in 1886 than in any preceding year in the history of Los Angeles."

terday, "and there were more laid in 1886 than in any preceding year in the history of Los Angeles."

Kysor & Morgaa have on hand the erection of three very large brick buildings, besides numerous lesser enes.

Whittier, Fuller & Co., the largest paint and glass house on the coast, find themselves cramped in their present quarters on Los Angeles street, just north of Commercial, and have decided to build. The contract was let yesterday to Mr. Collins for the brickwork on their building, which is to be erected on the east side of Los Angeles street, between Requena and First. The building will be of brick, 93x300, three stories and basement, and will cost $75,000. It will take a million and a quarter brick and 700 or 800 barrels of cement. That a paint and glass house requires such enormous space for its own business is a notable index of the development going on in this section.

I. M. Hellman and Meyberg Bros. are preparing to erect a brick block on the east side of Main street, just south of the Foster block. It is to front 60 feet on Main street, and run back 300 feet to Los Angeles street, on which it will have a similar frontage. It will be three stories high, and will cost $60,000 to $70,000.

Kysor & Morgan have also prepared the plans for the new Turnverein Hall, a brick 50x150, to cost about $30,000.

CLEANING UP.

Great Improvement Making in the City's Sanitary Condition.
Health Inspectors Lynch and Welch are doing a big job in Chinatown and other fithy quarters of the city. They are enforcing the Mayor's proclamation, and scraping up an astonishing amount of filth. The people respond with gratifying alacrity to the command to clean up, and even the Chinese ple respond with gratifying alacrity to the command to clean up, and even the Chinese give little trouble. The back yards and alleys in Chinatown are being put in the best order they have known for years; new privles are being built, and many nuisances being abated. A Times representative who trotted through Chinatown yesterday aftermoon was surprised at the change. Mayor Workman is gratified at the readiness with which the public is responding to his call for a general clean-up. The work will be prosecuted to a finish.

It is ESPELIALLY WE ADAPTED to use in CALIFORNIA, on account of the precominance in it of PHOSHFORM ACID, which is generally in small supply in our soils. Yet it is desirable that "COMPLET fertilizers be used in our orchards and vineyards, and YOURS IS-OF THAT CHARACTE in Turnishing Potash and Nitrogen as well. Very respectfully.

The value of this FERTILIZER consists in the large percentage it contains of PHOPHORIC ACID—the chief element of all plant food—in combination with the necessary questities of POTASH and AMMONIA, and the ease and cheapness with which it can be applied is not claimed that the FERTILIZER is an absolute cure for Phylloxera, or the other orling the soil and supplying the needs of plants they attain greater growth and are better ab to withstand the attack of either animal pests or inclement seasons. This FERTILIZER is troduced to the people of California for this purpose and a critical test of its merits invited. For particulars as to method of using the GUANO apply to the undersigned.

PATTON'S BURGLAR.

He Is Held to Answer Before the Grand Jury.

The case of People vs. Fred Peterson, for Eurgiarizing the house of ex-District Attorney Patton, came up in Justice Austin's court yesterday. Mr. Patton being placed upon the stand testified that his house had been robbed in March of a large amount of silverware and inverse; that he had met rware and jewelry; that he had med defendant in San Francisco, and the adant had told him that himself, with ins defendant had told him that himself, with another man, had burglarized the house; that defendant had seemed sorry for the act and had tried to help him find the property. Some articles that had been given to him in San Francisco Mr. Patton desired to return, as they were not his. Under-Sheriff H. M. Mitchell testified that the defendant was brought down from San Francisco some time in March by Mr. Cooney on a charge of robbing Mr. Patton's houe. They went to a place, near Mondonville, where the defendant said the goods were builed in a squirrel hole; that they found there a piece of tablecloth, in which defendant said the silverware was wrapped. Defendant said that the goods had all been removed, except three pieces, to another place. He had looked for the three pieces, but failed to find them. On this testimony Justice Austin held defendant to answer the charge of burglary, with ball fixed at $1000, in default of which was removed to sail.

PROPHET POTTS is vindicated again.

THE rain seems to be general throughout the State

THE country is alarmed by the report of Blaine's illness in Indian Territory. However, the latest telegraphic reports are reassuring.

Owing to the demoralization of the eastern wires by the storm, our budget of Associated Press news this morning is considerably curtailed.

THE coal miners' organizations throughout the country are about to coalesce, and the more they coalesce organize also.

MURAT HALSTEAD declares that the " white-bellied Prohibitionists are skunks." This remark will cause the circulation of the Commercial Gazette to rage among the Prohibition brethren Better elect honest men and bond 'em too. Human nature is frail.

THE names of 800,000 Union veterans of the war appear en the muste rolls of the Grand Army of the Repub lic. It is the most magnificent array of personified valor and endurance and patriotism that the world ever saw.

AFTER a winter's sojourn in Southern California, Rev. T. K. Noble, who resigned the pastorate of Plymouth Congregational Church, at San Francisco, on account of bronchial trouble has returned to that city much improved in health.

ANOTHER victim of circumstantial evidence, who had in his possession the property of the murdered man, was hanged in Arkansas yésterday. The justifiable homicides of Arkansas have tough enough time of it at best, and when one is nipped in the bud like that it makes us sad. AN ACROSS-TOWN CABLE.

In another place THE Traces this orning prints a full description of the latest, greatest and most compreh sive cable-road project yet laid before the people of Los Angeles. The projectors who are asking the City Council for the franchise, Hon. J. F. Crank and Herman Silver, have the means and the capacity to carry the work to completion, which will involve an expenditure of considerably over half a million dollars, and be a double track cable four and a half miles long, across the city. The petition names two years as the time for completion, but the projectors expect to finish the road within twelve months from the time of striking the first blow, if they are granted the franchise.

The project is one of great magnitude, and great importance to the city. As a preliminary to the new scheme the projectors have secured the centro of the City and Central Street Railroad companies, which evidently means that all the late conflicting interests in this field of local progress have been harmonized.

The matter will come up before the Board of Public Works today, and will command the attention of that body, and of numbers of interested citizens who will be in attendance. It will be discussed pro and con, and deserves care ful consideration on its merits.

Southern Los Angeles.

A representative of THE TIMES, re cently returned from the southern por tion of the county, brought some notes of progress from that enterprising and erous section, which is surely des tined to achieve a great future.

· Real-estate activity shows no signs of waning in the Santa Ana Valley, and the attention of capitalists and realestate men is being turned toward the foothills which form the eastern bound ary of this fertile section. The street car line from Orange to Earlhaxi which is expected to be in operation by June, will, it is stated, be extended from its present proposed terminus to Tustin, connecting there with the line from Santa Ana, and when the last link from Orange to Santa Ana is wrought there will be a circular road of eleven miles in length and embracing about 5700 acres of fruit land. The average price of improved land in that section s $500 per acre—in the vicinity of the towns it of course ranges higher.

The barley which was sown at the time of the last rain is looking well, but, in the opinion of the ranchers will make a very short crop unless favored with another wetting. Hay bids fair to command a high price during the coming fall-it is now quoted at $17 per ton, and as the days pass by and no rain appears, the lucky holders of it raise the price accordingly. The vines which were subjected to early pruning are already "wearing o' the green" and there will be a good opportunity this season to settle the relative merits of early and late pruning—a great deal of experimental work having been done in that direction.

The orange crop is rapidly disappearing before the onslaughts of the pickers, and the prices having been good, the cultivators of the juicy fruit have a general air of having done well, and it is hard to find any who cavil at the results of their labor. Numerous instances of the financial success of this crop have already been cited in th the less coal they produce. By and by it will be in order for the owners to notice is that of Dr. Wall, of Tustin, whose crop from eleven acres of nine-year-old trees last year netted him $6900, and this year he has disposed of it on the trees for $7500. Can the N. C. B. beat that? It must be admitted, however, that the black scale-bug has thoroughly established himself in that valley, and although numerous "certain remedies" have been used, he still holds his own. By spraying, however, and an adherence to the best-discovered tactics for his suppression, he may be kept well under; in fact, those who have given that attention to raising their crop which all citrus fruits require, state that the pest shows a considerable diminution this year as compared with last. To thoroughly spray trees, which should be done three or four times a season, involves an expenditure of 50 cents each, but, as in the cited case of Dr. Wall, where, after this attenti the trees yield a net revenue of $5.50 each, the expense is, after all, a source of income. Our informant further says that he saw an orange-grove recently, five acres in extent, the property of a man who does not think if worth while to attempt to fight the scale-bug. The result is that he will have only about ninety boxes of fruit in all, grimy, scaly and very different in appearance from the golden orange of our markets, and which will not probably net him more than $1 per box

In Orange the advent of the railroad is the all-absorbing topic, and business is being pushed to its utmost by thos enterprising spirits who have divided and subdivided, and destroyed the Micawber-like spirit which had for many years pervaded the place. Corner lots are now held at from $1000 to $2500, and "the oldest inhabitant" never fails to introduce into his conversation the remark that "Orange will astonish em all yet." in a set-back, owing, possibly, to the fact that Earlham (late Modena) has outstripped its rival in the race for wealth, and this latter-mentioned with Dr. Howe, when the horses ran away and Mr. Young was dragged about fifty yards. It was thought at first that he had been killed, but no bones were broken. He has returned to San Diego and is reported as doing well.

rises, an "astonisher." Eig s ago its ploneer settler w g a crop of barley on the presente, and today its inhabitan townsite, and today its inhabitants point proudly to their thirty-seven dwelling-houses, with a population of over 200; to their hotel, waterworks, post-office, stores and the other evidences of a flourishing settlement, and the real-estate men have amerry twinkle in their eye as they murmur, "And two more excursions coming this month." A company with $100,000 capital has been formed to build a dam at a point which nature seems to have designated particularly for that purpose (the hills ticularly for that purpose (the hills closing in on either side in the form of a V), and here, it is estimated, can be stead of having it, during the winter months, run to waste down the creek ed. As water for irrigating purpose means life to our new settlement, this enterprise is a commendable one, and one that cannot fail to be attended with good results. Between Earlham and Tustin, on the 740-acre ranch of D. Hewes, is daily to be seen a figure taking the levels and marking the lines which predict the advent of the promised street car. Could this hard-working individual exclaim, like Alexander Selkirk, "I'm monarch of all I survey," he would be a lucky man, indeed, as the amount of ju-dicious labor which has been expended on this ranch has resulted in producing a model fruit farm.

Santa Ana bears evidence of its prosperity by the addition of numerous buildings and the thronged condition of its business streets. No definite news as to the disposal of the San Joaquin ranch has yet been obtained, though the air is "thick with rumors." James McFadden is much amused at the statement which appeared in a con-temporary to the effect that he had

A First-rate Notice for "the Jedge.

It is seldom, since we arrived at manhood's estate, that we have been moved to tears, but the pathetic and intensely thrilling reference which our esteeme contemporary, the Daily Horn, made the other morning to Judge Keen drew "the briny" from eyes albeit unused to weep. The "Jedge," it appears from our e. c.'s account, was the ventor and discoverer, so to speak, e the brilliant qualities of this adolescent nius, who wandered into the wild of Milwankee in 1858. The "Jedge," it further appears, was the owner of the News at that now thriving city, and likewise P. M .- "wich is post master," as Nasby would put it-and he gave our contemporary's genius "full swing." How vividly we can imagine the sensation he must have created when he came out flat-footed, by the "Jedge's" instructions, for Douglas, "the little giant," in 1854. Time flew for more than a year, beautifully and graphically says this thrilling autobiographer. "Difficulties thrilling autobiographer. of a political nature arose in Washing ton-Douglas and Buchanan quarreled The President drew the reins tort (sic) on his postmasters." It was "an action of tort," as the lawyers say. 'Hot, hotter, hottest [Hottentottest grew the fight." "He instructed os four brilliant e. c.) to go ahead for Douglas; and presently Buchanan summoned him ["the Jedge"] to Washington, labored with him, warned him but without effect on his firm purpose. Spartan hero! The blandish more than kingly power, and the princely income of postmaster passed im by as an idle wind.

We were in our teens at that time, but we well remember that President the in eye the course of the Milwaukee News. instructing his private secretary to closely scan its columns and se out and lay before him the editorials that threatened to shatter the very foundations under the administration He foresaw the eminence to which this budding journalist would ascend, and he tried to stay the rushing tide, and, alas! he carried his point-"the paper was sold"-and we all know too well what followedgigantic civil war, with its torrents of plood and widespread devastation Behold how great a fire a torch kind leth. Truly, "in the hands of men entirely great, the pen is mightier than the sword," and the Daily Horn is more

"He was removed," says the Toothorn; "the paper was sold," and our e. c. was without an occupation, and to this mysterious dispensation of an all-wise Providence it is, doubtless, that Ange lenos owe the presence "in our midst" of this great journalist."

"Time flies-has flown!" says the Toothorn, in that peculiarly original and pithy style all its own. How tempus does fugit, to be sure! In fact it 'flew more than a year!" With tireless wings!

We would like to quote more of the brilliant lucubration of our e. c., but the pressure upon our columns forbids in this issue.

Alas for Toothorn, alas for Jedge! We will now close these solemn and affecting exercises by quoting the sage of Missouri scripture which is in the following words and figures, to wit: "He that bloweth not his own (Toot)horn, the same shall not be blowed." Selah!

A private telegram is received here from A private telegram is received here from Fort Gloson stating that Mr. Blaine has a severe cold and is threatened with pneumonia. The particulars are momentarily expected. The inference naturally drawn from the fact that a physician has gone from here to see and perhaps attend to Blaine, in the face of the probable fact that there is a skilled army surgeon at Ft. Gibson, is that he is, or is likely, to be seriously III. To determine this, however, further advices will have to be awaited. Proposed Union of All the Coal-miners' Organizations.

PITTEBURGH (Pa.), April 8.—[By the As-sociated Press.] Coal miners throughout the country are discussing the formation of a gigantic organization by the amalgamation of the National Enderstion of Miners and of the National Federation of Miners and the Miners' National Assembly of the Knights of Labor. Heretofore considerable jealousy has been manifested between mem-bers of the two organizations, but lately the officials have shown a disposition to agree upon a plan of mutual benefit. At a recent meeting of the executive board of the Federation of Miners' Association a resolu tion asking for a conference with the executive boards of the miners' assembly was adopted. The plan of federation is that the two executive boards shall meet and draw a set of rules or laws for the government of mining affairs. These laws are to provide for a representation from both the open and secret branches of the organization. No secret branches of the organization. No person is to serve as an officer unless he becomes a member of the Knights of Labor. It is understood that the idea is to have the federation still retain its organization, with the understanding that all of its members shall also be Knights of Labor. This will also be likely to bring all of the outside Knights into the federation. The united knights into the federation. The united miners will then bring together both organizations. It is likely that the Knights of Labor organization will agree to a conference.

A Crazy Manufacturer of Sensations and His Dupe.

A Crazy Manufacturer of Sensations and His Dupe.

Some weeks ago a man named Bush arrived in this city from Colorado and at once leoked up T. J. De Puy, the attorney, and asked his assistance in getting his daughter out of the Club Theater, a song and dance, hall on North Main street. Before Mr. De Puy had talked to Bush ten minutes he learned that the man's mind was almost gone. Bush has visited every newspaper in the city, but there was only one sheet in town green enough to listen to the poor maniac's raving story. The Tribune believed it, however, and gave a rambling, disjointed account of how Bush's daughter was murdered in Santa Monica. Mr. De Puy was seen by a Times reporter yesterday and said Bush read in The Times a few days ago about the body of a woman which was found on the beach at Santa Monica. As Bush read he became more and more excited, and at once thought his daughter had been murdered. He visited the coast, and day before yesterday he returned with a most improbable story. He interviewed Gen. Miles, and wanted the United States army to assist him in capturing the murderers of his daughter. The General saw at a glance what was the matter, and attempted to pacify the poor old man, but failed. Bush then visited the newspaper offices, and the Tribune bit, thus trying to make the public believe that a terrible tragedy had been committed. Bush has been staying it a lodging-house at 66 Banning street. He is in the habit of jumping out of his windew in his night-clothes at all hours of the night. He is becoming more crazy each day, and Mr. De Puy will have him brought before the Commissioners of Lunacy today, if he can be found.

How a Charge Against Them Was Tried and Ended.

How a Charge Against Them Was Tried and Ended.

There was a large crowd of listeners all day yesterday in Justice Austin's court to hear the several criminal cases that came up, and among them was the one where Ernest Montgomery, Willie Fallon and Charles Brooks were charged with an assault to rob a man near the east end of Aliso-street bridge some three weeks ago. The first witness called knew nothing about the case. T. W. Melton was called upon and told his story of how he met the three, boys, drank with them, played cards with them. How they lingered behind, and after he got across the Aliso-street bridge set upon him to rob him.

Attorney Damron moved to dismiss the complaint, as it was against Melty and not Melton. It was laid on the 19th of March, and this witness testified it was the 20th. After argument this charge was dismissed, a new one filed, the boys rearrested, and Melton gave his testimony all over again. A long cross-examination left matters about the same. Witness denied being drunk.

Mr. Weldman, the keeper of the saloon where the four had drank and played cards, gave in his evidence, and the justice dismissed this complaint, as well as the former, for want of evidence.

The male and female brutes of the Cowles family who were convicted of cruelty to their child, a full account of which was given by The Times, appeared before Justice Austin for sentence yesterday afternoon. The man and woman appeared in court in charge of an officer, and as they took their seats in the prisoners' dock they cast a defiant look around the crowded courtroom. "George and Florence Cowles, stand up," said the Court in solemn tones. "Have you anything to say why judgment should not be passed upon you?"

"Nuthin!" came in chorus from the miserable wretches.

"It is the judgment of this court that you each be imprisoned in the County Jail for a term of ninety days." The sentence seemed to give general satisfaction, and the two beings, who tooked more like beasts than human beings, were conducted down stairs, and were sent to the County Jail.

Freeno, April 8.—[By the Associated Press.] Frank Fierman and Billy Hall and an escaped convict, who stole a band of cattle at Dry creek on Sunday, were tracked by officers to Goshen, where the officers arrived one hour behind the fugitives, who were coming this way. Telegrams were forwarded to Selma and Fowler to intercept them at Fowler. Several officers and a posse armed themselves and awaited the arrival of the thieves. About half-past 9 last night the fugitives appeared and were ordered to halt, instead of which they opened fire upon the officers. A running fight took place, but the thieves escaped. In the fight one horse was shot, but no person was injured. The officers are keeping up a vigilant pursuit.

THE BILLION MURDER.

Further Account of a Chinaman's Bloody Deeds.

San Francisco, April 8.—[By the Associated Press.] 'A dispatch received today by the Bulletis from Chico gives later particulars of the killing of Mrs. Billion. The Chinaman, Ho Ah Henry, who is only 18 years of age, fired shots through the door while Mrs. Billion, two daughters and Weaver were at supper. The first shot from the rifle was fired at Weaver and struck him in the left shoulder, passed through his body and came out just above the heart. Mrs. Billion turned to see whence the shot came and received a bullet through the heart and instantly fell dead. Weaver, though seriously wounded, managed to shot through the closed door, but without effect. The door was, barricaded with a table and chairs, but the Chinaman got an ax and battered in one of the panels. At this point he appeared to change his mind and instead of proceeding further left the immediate vicinity of the house. Annie Billion, the little daughter of the murdered woman, went to the door to see what direction the Chinaman took in his flight. The Chinaman had not gone far, and, seeing her in the doorway, fired at her, but missed. She quickly retreated and closed the door. Meanwhile the other daughter had managed to leave the house and give the alarm at St. John. Pursuit was immediately given, but up to this morning the murderer had not been captured. Weaver's wound is very serious, and doubts are entertained of his recovery. No cause is known for the atrocious crime except that the Chinaman had been forced to assist in house-cleaning, to which he had demurred. He was in the employ of the family for several years as cook.

Joseph Billion, husband of the lady murdered, and who has been attending the meeting in this city of the Northern California Normal School-site Commission, left for his home today.

GRAND INLAND EXCURSION

GRAND INLAND EXCURSION

To San Bernardino and Lagonia via Senthera Pacific.

An excursion has been arranged for Saturday of this week, April 9th, to San Bernardino and Lugonia, via the Southern Pacific Coast Land Bureau, of San Diego, R. J. Pennell, manager and auctioneer, and the Los Angeles Land Bureau, of San Diego, R. J. Pennell, manager and auctioneer, and the Los Angeles Land Bureau, Los Angeles, Easton & Eldridge, auctioneers. The object of this excursion is to give people an opportunity for a delightful inland excursion to one of the most beautiful sections of our back country, namely, the great San Bernardino Valley, and to invest in lots in the new town of Lugonia, the natural business center of the castern part of the valley. On Saturday, April 9th, commencing at 11 o'clock, about 300 lots will be offered by auction, on easy terms of payment, namely, one-third cash, one-third in six and one-third in twelve months, with 10 per cent. Interest on deferred payments. These lots are not located washington, April 8.—[By the Associated Press.] The President having received a communication from the American Fisheries Union, of Massachusetts, calling attention to the fisheries dispute and suggesting that the Retailatory Act passed by the late Congress would, in their opinion, be sufficiently executed if the proposed retailation were confined to the closing of United States markets to Canadian fish products, has made answer, in which, after referring to the treaty relations between Great Britain and the United States and the rights of American fishermen, he says:

"The existing controversy is one in which the two nations are the parties concerned. The relation contemplated by the act of Congress is to be enforced not to protect solely any particular interest however valuable, but to maintain the national honor and thus protect all our people. In this view the violation of American fishery in the treaty relation of our citizens engaged in this business, is but an occasion for action, and constitutes a national affront which gives birth to or may justify retailation. In the performance of the duty which Congress has imposed upon me under-the-act referred to, I shall deem myself bound to infict no unnecessary dames or injury upon any portion of our people, but I shall nevertheless be unfilinchingly guided by a sense of what the self-respect and distinct of the duty which Congress has imposed upon me under-the-act referred to, I shall deem myself bound to infict no unnecessary dames or injury upon any portion of our people, but I shall nevertheless be unfilinchingly guided by a sense of what the self-respect noon on Saturday. A band of music will be in attendance at the auction. Excursions will also be run on Saturday from San Diego and Hiverside. Part of the above tract has recently been soid to parties who will at once creet residence thereon.

e Innocent Manner in Which She Sought to Vary the Hum-drum of Life-Three Nights at the Hotel

reporter of THE TIMES was sur to the rooms of Private Detective Lucas yesterday, where he found Edith Moore, the heroine of Thursday's sensation, waiting to tell her story, which she seemed desirous of placing before the public as the only true

Miss Moore is not over 18 years of age, of rather slight build, with clear-cut features, black hair and talking eyes. There was something of a sang froid expression about her, and if her face is not that of a young woman who has determined to look defiwoman who has determined to look defi-ance at the world, then she doesn't miss it very much.

Her first statement was that the case had not been placed in the hands of Detective Ed Smith at all. She admitted, however, that Smith went to the room in the Hotel (Italia, occupied by herself and Miss Reyes, and induced the two to return to their homes under threat of having them d'Italia, occupied by herself and Miss Reyes, and induced the two to return to their homes under threat of having them "taken up."

When piled with questions, Miss Moore admitted that she and Miss Reyes had gone off for a little "lark." They wanted to change the monotony of things. Had worked hard for a long time and felt the need of a change.

The young woman gave a circumstantial accoust of her "lark" or "larks" which, condensed is as follows:

"I went to Santa Monica, Sunday, with Miss Reyes, Will Hayes and a gentleman who was introduced to me as Mr. Smith. We drove down in a double carriage, starting at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and getting back about 8 o'clock. I stayed all night with Miss Reyes, at her home, and at 1 o'clock Monday went out driving with her in her people's carriage. Met Kinney and Bartiol about 5 o'clock while watering our horse in front of the engine-house opposite the plaza; went with these men at 7 o'clock to the Italian restaurant about an hour and then went out walking. About half-past 9 o'clock we engaged a room at the Hotel des Pyrennees. Barthol and Kinney stayed there till after 19 o'clock—passed the evening with us—and went away. Tuesday morning Miss Reyes and I went to breakfast at the Italian restaurant with Barthol and Kinney; then Miss Reyes and I hired a livery right of the rig with my own money. We drove out to the Arroyo Seco and back. We drove to our homes and changed our clothes; I was at my home about ten minutes. Wednesday morning we took breakfast at about 1:30 o'clock. We went to the restaurant and Barthol and Kinney gain at 7 o'clock, and we all day by ourselves. Took dinner with Barthol and Kinney again at 7 o'clock, and we all went up to Lewis's dancing academy and stayed until 10:20 o'clock. We went to the restaurant and Barthol and Kinney again at 7 o'clock, and we all went up to Lewis's dancing academy and there out to the statement by saying: "We didn't do anything wrong. We were just out for a little fun."

When asked by the reporter whether she didn't kno H. MOSGROVE & CO.

of that. We didn't expect it would all be published."
When finally asked whether she had anything to add to her statement, she said: "Only this: The men are not to blame for anything."
Detective Lucas says that when he talked with Barthol he denied any knowledge of the whereabouts of the girls-told such a plausible story, in fact, that he believed him. Lucas has since learned, however, that Barthol went immediately to the girls' room and told them that the detective was on their track, giving them Lucas's card.
Wherever the blame of the scandalous escapade rests, a discerning public will doubtless determine; but one thing is certain, the men will not be strengthened by the fact that they have thrust a poor misguided girl forward to try and brazen out the case for them.
